About this records creator:

Authorized Heading Rural Municipality of Laird No. 404, 1910-

Brief Bio./Admin. History The Rural Municipality of Laird No. 404 of Saskatchewan was incorporated on December 12, 1910. The rural municipality (RM), located north of Saskatoon, encompasses the town of Waldheim and the village of Hepburn. The municipal office is located in Waldheim. The administrators of the rural municipality are responsible for passing by-laws, maintaining cemeteries, collecting taxes, assisting in maintaining hospitals and roads and preventing cruelty to animals. The municipality is currently (2009) administered by a reeve, six councilors and an administrator, previously known as the secretary-treasurer.

Biographical Sketch/Administrative History The Rural Municipality of Laird No. 404 of Saskatchewan was incorporated on December 12, 1910 pursuant to the Rural Municipalities Act (S.S. 1908-09, c.6). The first reeve elected was C. Unruh. The first councilors were D. Peters, J.D. Neufeldt, J.B. Peters, A.P. Dickman, J.J. Gossen and J.J. Janzen. The first secretary-treasurer was John A. Funk. The municipality, located north of Saskatoon, encompasses the town of Waldheim and the village of Hepburn. It serves the area located in ranges 5, 6 and 7, west of the third meridian, townships 40 to 44. The North Saskatchewan River runs through the municipality, which was possibly named after David Laird, the first Lieutenant Governor of the North-West Territories.

The municipal office is located in Waldheim. The municipality is currently (2009) administered by a reeve, six councilors and an administrator, previously known as the secretary-treasurer. Their responsibilities include passing by-laws, maintaining cemeteries, collecting taxes, assisting in maintaining hospitals and roads and preventing cruelty to animals. The Council meets once per month.

The population in the rural municipality has remained relatively stable. In 1927, there were 2,848 residents. The population remained strong into the 1950s, when a slight decline occurred. The population as of 2009 is 1,136.
