Thomas Ferguson was born in 1936 in Regina and received his high school education at Scott Collegiate. He graduated from the University of Manitoba with a Bachelor of Architecture Degree in 1956, and immediately joined the Regina architectural firm of Stock Keith and Associates as a Design Architect. He became an associate of that firm in 1965. During this time, he was responsible for the design of the Head Office Building for Co-operative Insurance Service in Regina.

Tom, as he was known, became a partner of The D.H. Stock Partnership in 1966, in charge of design in the Regina office. At this time, and immediately following, he was responsible for the design of the College of Education Building, University of Regina Campus, and also for the Saskatchewan Institute of Applied Arts and Sciences Building in Regina.

During 1970, The D.H. Stock Partnership was incorporated and became D.H. Stock and Partners Limited, with Tom being partner-in-charge of design for the Regina office. At this time, he was responsible for several buildings constructed at the University of Saskatchewan Campus in Saskatoon, such as the Animal Pathology Laboratory Building for Agriculture Canada; the P.O.S. Pilot Plant, a food research facility for the Federal Government and the Regional Psychiatric Centre for the Canadian Penitentiary Service.

In 1977, Tom became a corporate partner in the firm of Ferguson Folstad Friggstad Architects, and was responsible for the administration of the Regina office and for the design of Regina-based work. His responsibilities included the design of SEDCO Centre, the first phase of a mega-project for Innovation Place, a research park located on University of Saskatchewan Campus in Saskatoon, and also for the new RCMP "F" Division Headquarters Building located in Regina.

Later designs included a new building for the Moose Jaw Police Service, and renovations and restoration of Moose Jaw City Hall, as well as a new office and assembly facility for SED Systems in Saskatoon.

In 1986, the corporate partnership was mutually dissolved and Tom continued to practice architecture in Regina under the firm name of Thomas Ferguson Architect Ltd. Projects designed by him between 1986 and 1995 include the East and West Additions to SEDCO Centre Building in Saskatoon; the design for Canada Post Corporation of a distribution facility in Yorkton; renovations to the Swim Tank facility and the Weight-Training facility at RCMP "Depot" Division in Regina; design of the RCMP Airport Detachment Building in Saskatoon; and RCMP Firearms Range

Studies in 1987 and 1993 as well as conceptual and preliminary plans of the complex.

During January 1996, an informal relationship with Saunders Evans Architects Inc. was formalized into the corporate partnership of Saunders Evans Ferguson Architects, where Tom Ferguson acted as Vice-President. Between this time and his death in June 1997, he was involved in the completion of the RCMP Firearms Range and Armourers' Workshop additions and renovation at the RCMP 'Depot' Division, Regina. He was also involved in the design of a 50,000 seat covered stadium as a possible millennial project for Saskatchewan; a new hotel project in Moose Jaw; church additions and renovations in Weyburn; a multi-residential/commercial project in Qingdao, Shandong Province, People's Republic of China; and master planning study work for the RCMP Training Academy, Regina.

During his career, Tom Ferguson received several awards for his projects, such as:
